

Howdy!

Welcome to the Texas A&M Hotel and Conference Center. We are thrilled to host you during your visit to Aggieland and hope you enjoy your stay. As we operate during these challenging times, the health and safety of our guests and team members is our highest priority now more than ever. Our objective is to be your most trusted travel and meeting partner. So, we are reframing and renewing our commitment to cleanliness in every imaginable way for our hotel guests and team members.

We are proud to be recognized with the 'Best of Housekeeping' award from AAA. This is a distinction that places Texas A&M Hotel in the top echelons of AAA's standards for Housekeeping excellence. We've also increased ventilation to minimize CO2 levels in all public spaces, increased air filtration to a Hepa filter Merv-rating of 13+ throughout the hotel, and added advanced oxidation systems to aid in removing contaminants in the air and on surfaces. Now you can truly take a deep breath, relax, and enjoy our clean and safe indoor environment.

To prepare for your stay, please find the information below detailing how we're ensuring a healthy experience during this time. While we recognize these adjustments may impact your stay, they are in the best interest of our guests and team members.
